By United Press.
Peralta, Mexico, May 11.—In the moonlight at this hour 3 a. m., Gen Huerta commanding the main Federal forces, is passing with his troops across the alkali wastes in the direction of Escalon. He expects before the heat of the day to meet the advancing guard of Gen Orozco's Rebels and open the big battle which has been pending for three weeks, and on which depends the fate of the revolution.

In response to questions Huerta
said to the United Press correspondent

Victory of the government in the coming battle is sure. In 15 days the revolution will be ended and I and my men will be in Chihuahua.

Huerta's night march was made across a short stretch of the bleakest part of the Mexican desert. It would have been impossible to march across it in the sunlight without great suffering. Huerta's men rested throughout Friday and started from Bermujillo at sunset.

Vanderbilt's steam yacht, Tarantula, between April 22, 1907 and September 4, 1907. Klenk declared

SOCIETY WOMEN TO ABOLISH DRINKING.

By United Press.
Chicago, May 11.—A crusade against the sale of liquors
in the exclusive clubs of Chicago for both men and women—was started today by Mrs. Harold F. McCormick,
daughter of John D. Rockefeller, and one of the most active club women in the city.
The fight is to be carried into the most exclusive of all the city's clubs, the Saddle and Cycle, of which Mrs. McCormick is a member.
"If I had my way," said
Mrs. McCormick in an interview, "there would be no public drinking anywhere on the part of women. I don't say that anything improper has been indulged in at any of the clubs, dances or parties, but I think a few of the conventionalities have been forgotten."

HIBBEN HEAD OF PRINCETON

PRES. TAFT GUEST OF HONOR
AT BIG COLLEGE INAUG-URATION.

By United Press.
Princeton, N. J., May 11.—President Taft and Chief Justice White of the United States Supreme Court, were the principal guests of honor invited today to attend the inauguration of Princeton University.
The university and college heads were in attendance and hundreds of alumni from all over the United States are here.

In his inaugural address, which was on "the evils of liberal education," President Hibben said that he believed the chief aim of an education is the making of a man.
It is necessary, he said, that man be taught the sciences in order to train his intellect but to teach a man to think and to make him worthy of the privilege of being a person in the midst of a universe
of things is the chief object of education, the president said.

HIS NECK BROKEN

MAN KILLED IN ILLINOIS
BROUGHT TO COLUMBUS
GROVE FOR BURIAL.

Undertaker Howard Humphrey of Columbus Grove, was in Lima Friday afternoon to meet the body of Frank Viers, which arrived from Joliet, Ill. While riding an apparently tame pony, the animal became frightened at a traction engine and threw Mr. Viers to the ground, breaking his neck and killing him instantly.

He is a former resident of Columbus Grove and a brother to James M. Viers. Funeral services were held in that place this morning at the Presbyterian church, conducted by the pastor, the Rev. Ralph Kohr. Previous to the service, the body rested at the home of a cousin, Dr. William H. Begg. Burial was made in Truro cemetery.

TWO REAL DAREDEVILS

HUFFMAN TRIAL

IS AGAIN TO BE TAKEN UP
MONDAY—STATE HAS CLOSED.

By United Press.
Columbus, O., May 11.—There was no session today in the trial of Senator Isaac E. Huffman, of Butler county, charged with accepting a bribe. The state closed its case late yesterday with the testimony of Roscoe R. Walcott, the court stenographer, who took the alleged conversations of the senators and Rodney Diegle over Detective Smiley's room on April 27, 1911 when the alleged bribes
were paid.

The defense opened by introducing character witnesses. Three judges of Hamilton testified that Huffman had a good reputation in his home town. The trial will be resumed Monday.

NEW DEPOT.

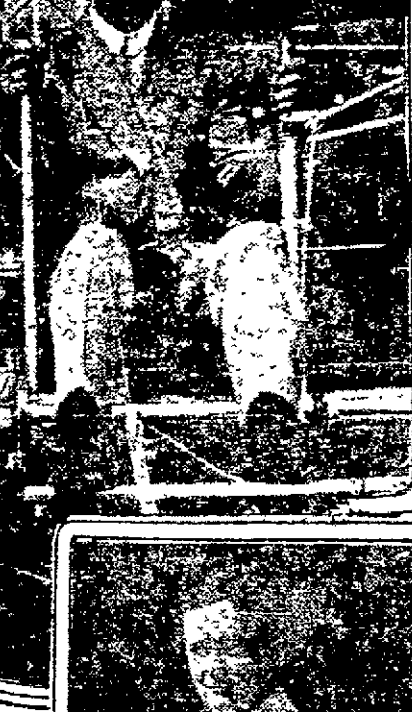

Special to The News.
Delphos, O., May 11.—There is now little doubt that the Ohio Electric will commence the erection of a new traction station on their lot on East Second street within a very short time. A. L. Matheany of Lima, with two surveyors of the Ohio Electric, was in Delphos Friday and surveyed the company's lot, locating the lot lines, and from information received from Mr.
Matheany, the surveying was done preparatory to commencing the erection of a new station here.

ANOTHER CHARGE.

By United Press.
Cincinnati, O., May 11.—Charges that E. E. Galbreath, former President on the Second National Bank,
now under arrest, induced officers of the Alabama Trust and Savings Company, Birmingham, Ala., to "abuse the trust and confidence" of the stockholders of Alabama, are contained in a suit filed today in United States District Court.

QUINCY WILL CELEBRATE.

Special to The News.
Quincy, May 11.—Two weeks and our elaborate D. T. & I. bridge will be completed. It is rumored that two bands from Columbus and one from Springfield will furnish music at the dedication. Let everybody come.

Walter Brooks, top, and Robert J. Collier, lower. The daredevil aeronaut pilot and the millionaire aviation enthusiast mystified the entire population of New York City and vicinity May 9, by flying around
New York Bay, over Staten Island,
and finally up the Hudson River,
unannounced, and in a heavy fog.
The trip was about the longest ever made by two passengers in New York in a hydro-aeroplane, about fifty miles. They started from Collier's country home, Wickatunk, N.
J. and ended the trip in the North
River, alongside of the Cruiser Washington, which was boarded by Mr. Collier. He extended an invitation to Rear Admiral Osterhaus and his staff to dine with him and his pilot, which was accepted with hearty congratulations.

FLOYD ALLEN IS ON STAND

By United Press.

Wytheville, Va., May 11.—Floyd
Allen, patriarch of the Allen gang today took the stand in his own defense against first degree punishment for his part in the Hillsville murders. He told some of his history, talking almost inaudibly and he was apparently very nervous.
Under questioning by attorney Willis he swore that he had told his lawyer at the Hillsville trial, Judge Rosen that he intended to "take his medicine," from Judge Massie.

WANT MANY RELEASED.

By United Press.

of the trades unions and the working men of London are aroused over the action of the court in sending Tom Mann, the Labor leader, to prison for six months and already numerous petitions to the home secretary asking the release of Mann are being circulated.

STEALING AT PEN HAS BEEN GOING ON MANY YEARS

ZIONISTS GIVEN A WARNING BY JUDGE.

By United Press.
Chicago, May 11.—A suggestion from Judge Landis that Overseer Voliva and his following to "go easily" in their war upon tobacco users within Zion city, reached the leader of the faithful today. The suggestion was sent following the application of Fred B.
Cook for a Federal injunction compelling Voliva to cease using certain words in speaking of employees of the Cook
Electric Co., who use tobacco.
The following words would be blue pencilled in Voliva's sermons if the injunction is granted, whiskey soaks, street
walkers, bums, thieves, beer
guzzlers, harlots, dogs, mutts, devils.

BOY IS SHOT BY SOLDIERS

By United Press.

Scranton, Pa., May 11.—
Fourteen year old Louis Broughnack, was shot over the heart by a state trooper in the vicinity of the Oliphant No. 2 breaker of the Delaware and Hudson company, near here today.

The boy is in a critical condition, the attending physicians stating that there is small chance for his recovery.
County Detective Rafter is investigating the shooting. Oliphant and Dickson authorities claiming that it was warranted.

SENTENCED

FRANK LARUE MUST DO TIME
FOR SHOOTING FATHER.

Special to The News.
Wapakoneta, O., May 11.—Frank LaRue, indicted by the last grand jury on two counts—shooting with intent to kill and shooting with intent to wound—the offense being an attempt upon the life of his father,
a prominent resident of Harrison township, was arraigned this morning, and entered a plea of guilty.
He was sentenced to the reformatory at Mansfield for an indefinite period, the term fixed by law being from one to twenty years, although his conduct while in the institution will determine largely the length of his imprisonment. His bearing in the court room was the same as that in jail, he maintaining a stoic silence and not expressing one word of regret for the deed.
LaRue will be taken to the reformatory by Sheriff Wilson, next Monday.

His statement revealed a remarkable loose method of accounting for the money which are handed at the penitentiary, showing that it was possible for convicts to fill out checks signed in blank and left where they could secure possession of them.

Conceding that there might be a shortage the Chief Clerk insists that some other than himself is to blame for it.

The surprising information was made public that since 1876 officials at the penitentiary have been stealing from the trust funds of convicts and that the known defalcations have been carried on the books without the slightest effort
having been made to recover them or to punish those responsible for their loss.

Hidden away in the vaults was discovered a report made in 1906 to the Board of Managers, after an exhaustive examination, showing to a penny how much had been abstracted.

Charles L. Warriner, of Cincinnati, defaulting Treasurer of the Big Four Railway, was clerk and assistant to Rex in that fund, and it was his record that varied so widely from the cash and bank balances of Rex that gave the investigators their first clue to follow.

Warriner has no possible connection with any discrepancy, the state officials said last night, and the books that he kept have been found in perfect condition. Not only that, but he has spent the last three days with the experts going over the record that threw light on the discrepancy and has been able to do work that was of great value to the state.

Investigation of the records of the penitentiary shows that $1,304 was missing from the convict's fund at the time Warden Jones took hold. Every detail, date, and amount going to make up this sum was carefully written in a ledger contained in the penitentiary vault. This shows that the defalcations commenced in the year 1876,
and steadily increased up to the time the books were turned over to the incoming Warden. Although evidently known to officials no attempt was ever made to bring any one to justice for the thefts.

Brief Illness.

lis, a well known resident of this

ning at four o'clock at his home in

John Tullis, Fletcher, O.; and Mrs.
Lydia Rison, Cincinnati. Funeral

10 o'clock at the M. E. church at cular street, an employee of the POLICE NEWS.

The usual trio of drunks comprised the dorket that greeted Mayor Shook upon his entrance to the court room this morning.

Two played return engagements and punishment was meted out accordingly. Theodore, better known as "Fido" Lipfert, couldn't resist the lure of the stone pile and paved the way for his employment in the penal institution by indulging in a glorious drunk. $5.00 and costs were meted out to him, upon the non-payment of which he was assigned to duty in the work house.

Paddy Bolen, in police court less than a month ago, returned yesterday, and this morning drew $5.00 and costs for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. Inability to meet the assessment cost him a trip to the works.

The other offender was H. Kirkpatrick, colored, a transient, who fell from grace. His precipitation from the water wagon cost him $1.00 and the costs.

HORSE TAILS ARE IMPORTED

They Come From Many Lands and Are Used in Making Brushes and Cloths.

An item that seemed odd in the manifest of a steamer lately arrived from Japan and Chinese ports was this in the list of her cargo from Tientsin: Fifty-five cases of horse tails.

As a matter of fact horse tails, or the hair thereof, are a common article imported into this country from China and from pretty much every other country on earth. The American market gets large quantities of them from China, but more from Russia; and horse tails are imported here from every other European country and from South America, from Australia, from all round the world. On the other hand there are more or less American horse tails exported.

From various causes the supply of horse tails, like that of anything else, may in one country and another vary from year to year, and there may be years when the world's supply is short and years when it is plentiful, with corresponding changes in the range of prices. Horse tails have sold as low as 20 cents a pound and they have sold for as much as $2. If stocks are scarce and high in London, and ample at lower prices here, New York importers-ship horse tails to London; in the contrary circumstances London importers might ship horse tails here. Horsetail hairs are sorted for length and colors and they are used either alone or mixed with other fibers in the manufacture of various sorts of brushes and mixed with other materials in the manufacture of hair-cloth.

In Imminent Danger.

Mr. and Mrs. Aschenbrenner were touring Europe, and had just arrived at Pisa. Mrs. Aschenbrenner was all excited upon reaching the Leaning Tower and eagerly pattered up the spiral stairway leaving her husband languidly awaiting her return.

As she weighed a shade over the 200 mark, her husband always dug up an excuse when it came to accompanying her on any altitudes above easy falling distance.

He was just pondering on the beautiful view of unintelligible language used by their guide, when from the topmost rampart came the "Hi-lee, Hi-lee" trill from his wife, who was leaning far out and waving a scarf.

Mr. Aschenbrenner obligingly looked up and then came to life with an anguished roar: "Gretechen, for your life, get back! You're bending the building!"

Catarrh of Stomach

INDIGESTION AND STOMACH AGONY QUICKLY ENDED.

If you want to thirty doctors and paid each his fee for a prescription for indigestion or stomach misery it is ten chances to one you wouldn't get such a good prescription as the one from which MI-O-NA stomach tablets are made.

How can such a thing be? you naturally ask.

Simply because the man who wrote the prescription from which MI-O-NA tablets are made knows more about stomach diseases than 96 per cent. of all the physicians in America, and he gets paid for knowing.

And when you get a large box of tablets made from this doctor's prescription for only 50 cents, are you going to continue to suffer? Sold by Enterprise Drug Store and druggists everywhere.

WANTS NEW TRIAL.

Attorney John Klatte, in behalf of his client, Jerome Shine, who was fined $200 and costs by Mayor Shook early this week for alleged selling of intoxicants after closing hours on May 1st, has filed a motion for a new trial. Attorney Klatte bases his claim upon the lack of sufficient evidence to convict Shine.

MERCHANT GIVEN RELEASE; GOODRICH MAY REPORT

DOINGS OF THE DAY AT LOCAL HEADQUARTERS

(By Pete.)
Slowly, as the morning dawned, Meak, moist and cold, Mr. George Wrigley awoke from his slumbers by an awful nightmare, laid aside his linen, and dressed. The ignominy of yesterday's defeat was yet vividly portrayed on his mind and he proceeded to wield the axe. Homer Merchant, the popular little middle belder, was summoned to the bar of justice, and informed that his services were no longer needed and Homer was given his transportation back to Columbus, Ohio.

Merchant, never a consistent hitter, has failed to connect for a single safe one this year, and his release was not unexpected. His fielding has been far from the best and he has viewed the game from the bench for the greater part of the season. Merch is a good man, but his weakness with the stick prevented his retention.

Hope arose in the manager's mind a few minutes later when he opened his morning mail and found there in a missive from Henry Goodrich,

Watching the Box Score

Just to let the anxious world know that he is still on the team with Ty Cobb, Sam Crawford turned his second into a homer in the ninth when two men were on bases and wrapped up a game for the Tigers.

Jimmie Callahan's runaway lads made it four straight from Washington but at that Griffith's men now have more than their usual midsummer number of games won.

Poor old Roger Bresnahan wonders of 1911 pulled together and after nine losses in a stretch, took a good game from the Boston Braves.

After the many delays on account of rain and mud the Athletics at last got their world's championship banner unfurled to the breeze and celebrated the event by losing the game.

Harry Wolverton, leading pinch hitter of the big leagues, did it again in the ninth inning and the fight for the furnace room championship is today keen.

Hank O'Day's pots went back after the lead yesterday and pulled out a ninth inning win but Red Ames made the Cubs do a bear dance and the Giants are still a brief margin to the good.

MARION HAVING TROUBLE WITH PITCHING STAFF

Marion is having some trouble securing a well balanced pitching staff. Jones appears to be the best in the lot and will have a good year unless he is worked too hard. Thiesen looks better than he did last year, according to the dopists, and should prove a winner. Seibach, Perdue and Broucher are left from which to choose two pitchers that will do. Seibach has not measured although he has shown flashes, while Broucher seems like a most capable twirler and Perdue's work has been mediocre. The staff is giving Manager Johnson considerable trouble, and some importations are expected.

Man Gets a Bowquet.
One foggy morning recently a Lackawanna ferryboat was in collision with a tug. No great damage was done, but for a few moments considerable excitement prevailed among the commuters. One woman in particular rushed to the rail, and in her panic seemed bent on leaping overboard. An athletic young man restrained her, assuring her there was no danger. At length she was sufficiently calmed to speak, and then, clinging to her preserver's arm, she gasped: "You know, I'm a spinster and a suffragette, but there's a time when a man is a mighty good thing to have around."—New York Press.

WIERD BASE RUNNING COST GAME

(By L. N. Prince.)
Chic Long's dramatic little snooze in the eighth inning of yesterday's emotional tragedy sent the McCormickites back to Mansfield this morning, three out of four to the good. After the nimble guardian of the third sack had drawn a quartet of wide heaves, he was forged secondward by a neat suicide enacted by J. W. Hornung. Then, the pathos Chic wearied of life on the second sack and promiscuously wandered along the base paths. Whether he was figuring up his rapidly accumulating batting average or whether he was engrossed by the fleckless sky overhead, we're unable to swear. The fact remains, though the over-alert Mr. Scott, the same gentleman, whom our boys treated to a memorable licking on Wednesday p. m., turned on his haunches and snapped the spheroid to Daley, who nipped the heavy-lidded Chickie by fully eighteen inches. Rudy Munk, next applicant at the gutter percha, crunched out a beauty bright to center for a couple, but the runner was not and the hit went for naught.

The game was a heart-buster. The visiting Tigers assumed the lead in the fifth, when McCormick singled to short and legged it for second on Wes Hornung's wild chuck. Harry Redman rescued his boss by a healthy shot to right, scoring the first and only run of the game.

The cleverest slab duel of the season was staged within the San Felipe stadium with Rudy Munk

Young Mr. O'Toole, the expensive section of the Pittsburgh pitching staff, was wild against yesterday and handed out eight passes. This should have been enough but Doom men failed to stop the Pirate hitters.

Hub Perdue, the sensational Boston pitcher, dropped another game yesterday, those Cardinals cleaning up on the young pitcher, 3 to 1. Red Gowdy sent in as a pinch hitter, failed in one try.

Taylor, ex-Piquad, lost his game for Al Newham's Richmond, Va., club yesterday, the Reading club winning from the Senators, 4 to 2. Taylor allowed seven hits.

As usual, Ray Miller participated in a swat-fest. Columbus lost to St. Paul yesterday, but the ex-Stogie banged three out of four.

Jimmy Burke sent his array of ex-Ohio Staters to the slab yesterday and as usual, they split the apple sauce. Red White, Clegg Webb nor Frenchy Goulait could stop those Millers who won the game, 9 to 4. Both Goulait and White whacked out singles.

Bill Riley lost his game to Wheeling yesterday through poor support. He held the Stogies to six singles, but his Canton teammates fiddled a quartet of times.

Wolcast Wants 20,000 Fight

San Francisco, May 11.—"They will have to offer more than $15,000 for me to go into the ring with McFarland," says Ad Wolcast. "Not that I am afraid of the Chicago boy but purely on a business basis. I would not accept less than $20,000 and likely I'd want more. Why, they would draw $50,000 with that match in New York."

SUGAR BEETS.

Fifty Acres of Them are Planted Near St. Marys.

Special to The News.
St. Marys, O., May 11.—Fifty acres of land in the vicinity of St. Marys are already planted to sugar beets. Planting is now in active progress. Edward Kellermeyer and E. L. Katterhehn are among the landowners who have their sugar beet acreage sown. One of the portable shelters for the imported workmen who will have charge of working the crop in its early stages was stationed, Friday, on the William Jordan farm near the northern limits of the city.

and Scotty as the principals. The visitor possessed the horse-shoe, however, and drew the decision. Five hits against each were registered. Rudy handed one lonely comp, while Scott walked three. The locals had men on bases in every inning with the exception of the sixth. A couple of double plays killed a duo of chances while the remainder were lost through inability to produce the timely swat.

The most auspicious opportunity appeared in the fourth. Hobbs came through with a ripping double. He got as far as third but no farther. Wrigley doubled in the first, but couldn't register. The Allen county warriors assumed an ugly mood again in the ninth. The hopes of 350 frantic fans rose to the highest crest when Zeke led off with a shot. Hobbs forced the doughy manager at second, however, and big Frank Nesser did the unpardonable by crashing into a double play. And the curtain slowly fell while the 350, their hopes dashed to pieces, meandered stolidly out from the park. Also it was ladies' day.

POOR JUDGMENT DISPLAYED IN FIFTH

(By Pete.)
Chic Long, the conscientious hit the tairo sacker, was not alone in the bean spilling yesterday. Big Frank Nesser, the doughy captain and first sacker, and John Wesley Hornung, the scintillating shortstop, were principals in the pathos. It came in the fifth. Fans had settled down and were primed for the closest engagement of the series with a full expectancy of witnessing the Lima warriors emerge with the scalp of the foe dangling from their belt.

As usual, one man had passed the boards. Harry McCormick, the gigantic and imposing boss of the visitors, assumed his position on the triangular. The Richland county boss caught one of the seams and drove it to short at a terrific clip. Hornung made a dash for the sphere, but an ugly bounce carried it off his glove. Wes turned a somersault, regained the sphere and proceeded to chuck it promiscuously to Nesser. The ball eluded the big first sacker and Barry pulled up at the keystone sack.

Here's where Big Nesser figured. Harry Redman, next man to take the offensive, lifted a soarer back of first base. The play was apparently Nesser's. A mix-up in signals and Frank didn't play for the catch. Instead, Harry Daubert pushed in from right full-speed and the sphere fell five feet in front of him for a single. Had Nesser fielded the ball, as easily he could, McCormick would have been held at second with two down. Instead, Barry rushed for third. On the very next play, a chance was lost for a double and a subsequent cutting off of the winning run. Scott sizzled to Zeke who made a quick stop and threw to Hornung at second, getting Redman. Wes lost his knitting at this point and didn't attempt to complete the started maneuver. McCormick winding up at Friendship.

The inning was a bad one for the locals, but the game is lost now, so there's no use worrying over it.

Managerial Changes Help to Four Clubs

Cleveland, O., May 11.—Managerial changes seem to have benefited at least four clubs. Hank O'Leary took charge where Clark Griffith left off at Cincinnati and has the Reds near the top in the National league. Griffith moves over to Washington and sends the Nationals along at such a warm clip that they have been among the leaders ever since the season began. With Groom or Johnson pitching they are all but invincible and Griffith is a greater favorite than he ever was before. Griffith, by the way, succeeded McAleer, who is at Boston. While not the manager, he is the president of the club and as such the guiding spirit of the Red Sox for first place.

Then again, Jimmy Callahan moved up from the ranks at Chicago to take the place of Hugh Duffy, who had failed for two years to accomplish anything with the White Sox. Adding a couple of minor leaguers to the infield and developing two recruit pitchers, Callahan has built up a most formidable machine and is giving his rivals the dust.

THE SENSIBLE WAY.

Saturday night and what have we saved the past six days that have become mere history now? Chances are if we get everything balanced up nicely and have a dollar or so left to start the next week we've done pretty well, haven't we? Could have, though, by starting a few Saturday nights ago have been able to point to a nice little sum that gets a little larger each Saturday evening, couldn't we? And it is certainly a comfort to have a few cents laid away these days.

In Lima Saturday night is a more pleasant time now than it has been to many for years, because there's something like a thousand boys and girls and men and women dropping a few cents or a quarter, or maybe a dollar into the little banks recently given away by the Daily News. And almost every day someone drops in to thank the News for the bank that started them on the road to savings.

So popular was the scheme and so readily did the people acquire the savings habit the News has, for the benefit of those who were unable to secure the banks procured another lot—only 500 in this lot. One of the banks will be given free to any person calling at the News office. There's no string to it. No need to be a subscriber; you are not asked to subscribe no get any one else to—you are not expected to pay one cent. Simply ask for a bank and get it.

Don't wait until these are gone, but get one now and make every Saturday night happier than the previous one—surprise yourself by seeing just how rapidly the little bank will build up a snug deposit.

SMASHING OLD MACHINES.

Whether or not any good comes out of the bitter fight now waging between Taft and Roosevelt, between Bryan and Harmon one thing is certain—little harm to the general public will result. If nothing else comes from it several old political machines will be smashed and that is worth something to the country. The next campaign will doubtless see new machines, but the people will profit by knowing who composed the old ones and keeping an eye upon them accordingly.

Already one state, Pennsylvania, has seemingly profited by the controversy. The Penrose machine has been so badly disabled that it does not seem possible to get it in shape again. In New York state, too, there is a little intimation that a machine or maybe two will come out of the running damaged beyond repair.

This controversy means, for a time at least, that rule and direction of both old-line parties will be by a crowd of new and different men. Whether permanent good will result or not is another matter and while all left the general public is to hope some good will result the rottenness of old machines rather tends to cast a shadow on the new. But upheavals are going on all along the line; surprises are yet in store; the climax has not been reached and just how well new machines can be built by the Democrats and Republicans without having to resort to much of the old remains to be seen, and to be watched with interest.

THE STORY OF ONE SALOON.

Oh, we're not altogether original—they have just uncovered a saloon deep in the ruins of Pompeii, and it is of such construction and detail that you'd almost know it if you met it.

Over the door is the word "Jollium." That's Latin, but we don't have to pound you on the head to make you appreciate how that title would fit the modern gin palace. Upon the walls are political notices, showing that there's no merit whatever to the notion that the mixing of beer and patriotism belongs exclusively to our own era of progress.

Then there's the "Jollium's" bar with holes in which to keep those "private brands" that you get with a wink from the bartender and a solid railing to hang on while talking politics or while remarking to the other Roman Lushes that you are not afraid to stay away from home until any old late hour.

Upon the floor are little square boxes of marble that are puzzling the archaeologists. But pshaw! Put sawdust in those boxes and you complete the tout ensemble on the "Jollium" of today. At an end of the bar is a low partition of marble evidently making a sort of tray and creating a scene so familiar one can almost see Romulus and Remus sliding up to cracked pretzels, bread and cold liver of old, old Pompeii's days of prosperity.

Pompeii's palace, temples, cloisters, terraces, monuments crumbled under the ashes and lava of the volcano, but her saloon survived. However, judging by the engraved pictures found in this excavated "Jollium" no decent volcano would go anywhere near a Pompeian saloon!

THE TELEPHONE.

Realizing that all readers of the Daily News are more or less familiar with the Bible it seems hardly necessary to call their attention by book and verse to quotations we desire to emphasize. But to save time and trouble turn to I Chronicles, chapter IX, 12th verse. "They are employed in that work day and night."

Did you ever ponder on the telephone, an invention which is as imperative as a pretty woman, as insistent as a gun, as clamorous as an office-seeker, as importunate as a beggar, as temper-wrecking as a termagant?

The telephone is berated and reproached early and late; it is damned as a nuisance and condemned as a meddler; it is diurnal, nocturnal, eternal and infernal; and yet there always comes a psychological moment when we forget its dereliction, forgive its depravity and chant its praises to the high heaven.

The telephone is the Campanile of business, the whispering gallery of society, the go-between of industry, the herald of the press, the agent of the police, the bellringer of gossip, the bell-wether of scandal and the cavalier servant of every pettifog in town. It is as much at home in the bar-room as in the board; it brings the millionaire in his palace to the level of the mechanic in his tenement. It is the confederate of the love that laughs at locksmiths; it is the life-line of intrigue and the baffle of seclusion; no occasion is so sacred, no spot so secure, no atmosphere so sweet, no pride so safe, that the insolent and insistent sibilance of its clamor may not invade it.

The telephone is the last and most lusty ally of a vociferous civilization. The roar of the trolley subsidies, the whistle of the locomotive ceases, the voice of the demagogue grows silent, the phonograph exhausts itself, the clangor of street and mart is stilled, the lungs of men wear out, and the rosebud mouth of lovely woman becomes silent but the unconquerable telephone is on the job 24 hours a day, 365 days in the year.

SUPPLY

OF NEW BANKS SECURED TO ACCOMMODATE READERS.

DISTRIBUTION OF THESE EXTRA FIVE HUNDRED WILL BE MADE TONIGHT.

The last of the 1000 banks and 50 cent checks have been given out and as there are still many persons calling for the banks, we have arranged and secured a new supply and will give them to all persons over the age of 16 who may call for them as long as they last, but no checks will be given with this supply.

It may be well to state that those who were fortunate enough to be among the first 1000 receiving the benefit of the 50 cent check also, must present them at The Citizens Loan & Building Co., on whom these checks are drawn, and open an account on or before June 1st, as after this date the check will not be received, and you will be given credit only for the amount actually deposited.

Come in today. Just say: "I want a savings bank." Give your name and address. That's all. You don't have to subscribe; you don't have to get a subscriber; you are not to pay a cent. The bank is yours for the asking.

SECRETARY GRAVES RENEWES THE PROMISE TO CONDUCT A PROBE

Declares the Allen County Board of Election's Conduct Will be Thoroughly and Promptly Investigated by Him as Chief.

Leaders of the anti-machine forces in the democracy of Allen county have received additional assurance from Columbus that secretary of state Graves will promptly and persistently probe the recent action of the Allen county board of deputy supervisors of elections in throwing out the nomination of 42 anti-machine candidates for committeemen and delegates of the democratic party. This assurance was given by attorney John F. Lindemann and Kent W. Hughes by secretary Graves when he gave them an audience in his office in Columbus Wednesday and it was renewed by him yesterday.

To a prominent citizen from another county, yesterday, a party not interested in the controversy in Allen county, secretary Graves volunteered the statement that he would probe the Allen county to the bottom and would do it promptly. The story that some one tried to bribe chief deputy John H. Klatt, of the local election board, with $500 to influence his action as a member of the board in the matter of the protests against the petitions of anti-machine candidates, was revived by Mr. Klatt last night. Klatt still insists that some one offered him the five hundred but neither he nor Mr. Welty will reveal the identity of the alleged donor. Mr. Klatt, however, insists that he has something to tell the grand jury.

This evening between the hours of 4 and 9 o'clock, will be the last opportunity given the voters of the city to register before the May primaries. All who have not previously registered during the last four years or who have moved from one precinct to another without registering a transfer of registration, will be required to register directly or by transfer before 9 o'clock tonight in order to be allowed to vote on the day of the primary election, May 21. The places of registration were open eleven hours yesterday and again from 8 o'clock this morning to 2 o'clock this afternoon, but the registration was very light.

NEW PAVILLION

Is Now Being Planned For Central Point In Fautot Park.

Superintendent Fred Leecher is drawing up plans for a proposed new pavilion at some central point in Fautot park for the coming summer. Director Harman, of the public service board, has been approached on the matter and sanctioned the proposal. If built, the pavilion will be constructed at a suitable portion of the park and will be about 40x30 feet in size. Looscher and Director Harman will likely materialize the pavilion as to be built as a shelter for picnickers and other visitors of the popular park.

Feeding a Convalescent Child.
When my small son was convalescing from a recent illness the doctor ordered hot gruels, broths, etc., and I realized that it would require some finesse to get him to take them.

So after I had prepared the little dishes for the tray I rolled paper into cones and stood one up over each little cup. Then I pinned a penny flag onto one cone and lo! I had Company 'D' in camp and sonny and I went visiting.

We stopped first at the captain's tent (where the flag was) and he partook of the treat offered. Then he went gayly from tent to tent, eagerly lifting up the paper cones to see what was beneath.

The next day I made a log cabin out of toasted bread strips piled log cabin fashion. It inclosed a cup of beef tea, which he drank because it was presented in a way that appealed to his imagination.

We played soda fountain and he paid for his hot drinks with toy money, and thus I accomplished my purpose without friction.—Harper's Bazar.

Pole's Passion for Gambling.

The trial at Krakow of a Polish advocate named Steinfield who has come to grief through gambling has been the occasion of some curious revelations about the hold which this vice has on business men in Austrian Poland.

Dr. Steinfield's wife in her endeavor to keep her husband out of temptation tried the plan of never leaving him out of her sight even when he went to his office. The lawyer then made a practice of going to bed early and rising at 4 in the morning before his wife was awake in order to hurry off to the so-called "Monte Carlo" at Krakow, which he would find still in full swing at that hour. When staying at hotels during the summer he would arrange meetings with other card players in the bathroom and play there for hours, while he told his wife that he was taking a cold water cure.

"Dad."

"Dad" and "daddy" were well known in this country in the sixteenth century; "papa" did not come in, borrowed from abroad, until the seventeenth century was well advanced. Florio, at the end of the former century, defined the Italian "pappa" as "the first word that children are taught to call their father, as ours say 'dad,' 'daddy' or 'bab'." "Dad" seems to be the commoner to mankind of the two. Nausicaas in the "Odyssey" calls her father "pappa philie," dear papa; but Greek has "tata" also, and Welsh has "tat," and Irish "dadd."

"No man could find time to do any real fishing and at the same time learn the names of so large a collection of trout flies."

WOMEN

Making Good as Hotel Manager in Gotham

FRIGID LANDLORDS MUST NOW LOOK CAREFULLY TO THEIR LAURELS.

FAIR SEX RAPIDLY ENTERING THE FIELD.

TENANTS PLEASED AND DE-CLARE THEY ARE GETTING BETTER TREATMENT.

New York, May 11.—Frigid hotel managers, who for centuries have been able to sit with unconcern while tenants and irate tenants pleaded on bended knee for at least one pitcher of water before retiring, must be careful. Their jobs are in jeopardy. Women, who can make a rental agent's life a pathway of thorns or a tropic garden have entered the field of competition. Women at the head of boarding houses and private hotels are as frequent here now as campaign speakers. They are no longer a radical sign of the times. But from the smaller establishments women have emerged into the larger.

One of the highest class hotels in New York today is under the management of a woman and she is "making good," with a vengeance. The owners declare they have no intention of returning to the "old style" of having a man "run things," again. Fifteen years ago, a woman became famous in Minneapolis as manager and renting agent for a new office building there. Now there is scarcely a town in the country but can boast of the same progressiveness. In New York men are still generally acting as renting agents and managers for buildings but women are beginning to qualify in both capacities.

There's a reason according to the big building owners. The superintendent of a large apartment house to deal mostly with women of the tenant's case. The tenant's frets and furies and complaints must be investigated, weighed and appeased. Some owners have concluded that a woman superintendent can better handle the situation. Being a housekeeper—some of them are—women can get to the complainant's case more understandingly. She knows the owners declare, which is the more urgent on its appeal the complaint that the dumb water bell doesn't ring, or the complaint that the piano in the next apartment wakes the baby at midnight. Women have been tried out and they have made good.

Twenty years ago Mrs. M. J. McAlpin with four small children to care for began work by taking charge of a block of houses near Eighty-ninth street which was then farthest north in New York. It took considerably more nerve to try out a woman in a new line of work then than now, but as the Upper West Side began to define itself as an excellent place to live, Mrs. McAlpin was made superintendent of one of the big apartment houses. During the decade her list increased. She is now agent for four or five of the larger uptown buildings.

Charles H. Kramer and C. W. Douglass, councilmen, G. B. Hatfield, service director, and H. M. Allen and V. F. Stouder, prominent citizens of Troy, Ohio, were here yesterday, looking over the bituminous macadam pavements. They came over in a big motor car and while here were guests of F. E. Harman, of the board of public service.

New York Uses Much Water.

In the whole world there are only about 1,500,000 people. An inch of rain on our watershed normally would give two gallons of water for every man, woman and child on the surface of the earth. Put it another way: If every man, woman and child on the face of the earth should walk up to the lakes, reservoirs, etc., which hold New York city's water supply, and each pour in two gallons of water, it would not be enough to last that city ten days.

Charles Paden, formerly of Lima, but later with the Vacuum Oil company, of Olean, N. Y., has been transferred to Bayonne, N. J., where he has a responsible position. Before leaving for his new place, fellow employees presented him with a gold watch, in token of esteem.

A $15,000,000 Heiress's Idea

Even the Poorest Girl Always Knows Just the Kind of Man She's Going to Marry—

Here Is Beautiful Rich Miss Lilla Gilbert's Interesting Ideal

AIME DUBONT

Miss Lilla Gilbert, Exhibiting the $15,000,000 Look—Very Different from Mr. J. M. Barrie's "12-Pound Look."

Here It Is! Are You It?

He Must Be—Six feet tall, and fond of athletics; a brunette, a good rider and fond of animals; clean-shaven with a firm jaw, and ears close to his head; an Episcopalian and a Republican; AND A MONEY-MAKER.

He Must Have—Thick hair curled over his left ear with no red in it; a straight nose; large and intelligent eyes, but not soulful ones, because no one with soulful eyes is a money-maker; decided ideas on the raising of pigs and poultry.

He Must—Like lemon with his tea and eat ice-cream with a fork; like Robert Chambers' stories and Kismet; dance the Turkey Trot and wear his clothes like John Drew does; swear like a gentleman and be gentlemanly—even in his cups.

He Must Not—Wear pink neckties and jewelry; ever have been REALLY in love.

TIME TO PROVE IT—25 HOURS 3 MINUTES.

EVERY girl has an ideal Man whom she hopes some day to find and turn into a Perfect Husband. The talented Miss Laura Jean Libbey drew a composite ideal that appealed to multitudes. William Gillette, the actor, was another. Usually a girl's ideal before marriage can be found by taking her husband and conjuring up a man absolutely different in every point. It can be understood that most girls without money think of an ideal with lots of money, just as Cinderella always dreams of the Prince and the beggar maid of King Cophetua. The subject of any girl's ideal is a deeply interesting and important psychological study. But how about the ideal of a girl with beauty, millions and social position?

The question is not a frivolous one. Nothing that has $15,000,000 attaches to it is frivolous. It is provoked by the fact that Miss Lilla Bramhall Gilbert, granddaughter of Isaac Brokaw, one of the dozens of New York society, and niece of Mrs. Preston Satterwhite, one of the richest of American grandes dames, has just given up her sixth possibility at the close of her second season and is not only still looking for her ideal but has very fairly outlined what the ideal is.

No rule of thumb measurements will satisfy the model plans which Miss Gilbert has clearly defined as her man perfect. In a confidential mood the other afternoon, over the tea cups, this fifteen million dollar heiress divulged some of the specifications.

The perfect man must be six feet tall, athletic, a keen rider and clean jumper, a lover of animals, and preferably a brunette. This perfect He must be clean-shaven. Once he should have had a mustache, but HE, too, proved imperfect. And he must have a firm jaw. His hair must be thick and curl over his left ear. There must be no tinge of red in it. There must be no signs of baldness. His ears must set close to his head. Miss Gilbert would not marry the richest man on earth if his ears stood out the tiniest bit.

Being athletic, and at least six feet tall, his figure would naturally be good. He must not limp, nor stutter, and he must not be bow-legged nor pigeon-toed. He must be a gentleman.

He must never wear pink neckties or jewelry. He must like lemon in his tea and eat ice cream with a fork.

There are two final requirements—he must never have been in love and he must be a money-maker.

Besides her own and her mother's fortune, Miss Gilbert is to inherit the many millions belonging to her aunt, Mrs. Satterwhite, and a slice of her uncle's millions. Said uncle is William Gould Brokaw. Mrs. Satterwhite was Florence Brokaw. She first married James Martin. At his death six years ago she inherited the bulk of his millions. Her only son died in Paris shortly afterward, leaving one little child. This child has since died. There are, therefore, no direct heirs to the combined Brokaw-Martin millions. Miss Gilbert is Mrs. Satterwhite's only niece and her special favorite.

"Lilla wants an Adonis, a Sir Galahad, a Jockey, John Drew and Maurice rolled in one," grumbled the mothers of marriageable men. Now, at the close of her second season, society is counting up the men who have had aspirations to become perfect husbands. There is a baker's dozen of them, and then a few more who modestly hide behind their own lights. Of the baker's dozen let us analyze their careers, their good points, and see why they did not attain Miss Gilbert's ideal. They were: Henry Waters Taft, the oldest son of Henry Waters Taft and nephew of President Taft; there was Angier Duke, the only son and heir of Benjamin Duke; Jack Darragh, one of the cleverest dancers in society; Nils Florman, the eager searcher after happiness who has slipped away under many skies; Alden Blodgett, horseman, clean jumper, and blonde; and Diok Lounsbury, a grandson of the wealthy and venerable James B. Haggin and son of the late Richard Lounsbury, some millionaire himself.

Let us start with Mr. Taft. There was every chance in his favor. He belongs to a well-known family, he is six feet tall, athletic, a good dancer, bound to be a money maker, and perfectly fit, physically. His devotion to Miss Gilbert was the talk of the town. There was nothing subdued or secretive about it; it was devotion rampant. Alas, poor Wally! He failed on two counts. He confessed to having been in love once at the tender age of six with the golden-haired daughter of his uncle's head gardener, and doubly alas! a second time, just a year ago, with a beautiful Chicago girl, Miss Ethel Herrick. His engagement to Miss Herrick had just been announced when he met Miss Gilbert, and society has always said that the latter was responsible for the ultimate breaking off. But this, of course, is not true.

In comes Mr. Duke. Mr. Duke is no taller's dummy. He might even teach John Drew how to tie his ties and just how to adjust his scarf pin. But then one day at the Brokaw country estate in Long Island, Mr. Duke, brutally refused to hold Miss Gilbert's pet Pomeranian in his manly arms. Such a dear little ball of fluffy white hair, red snapping jaws and sharp white teeth! Thus coldly did he prove himself no lover of animals. Exit Mr. Duke and enter Nils Florman. Mr. Florman is a handsome youth, a Swede, a blonde Adonis, a shy Sir Galahad, and perchance a money maker. This attempt to become the perfect husband was before Mr. Florman took his little flyer in Standard Oil, via Miss Helen Stallo's heart.

In nearly every way Mr. Florman fulfilled the requirements as laid down by Miss Gilbert. He was a dream of a dancer, his cake walking was absolutely ecstatic, he could Turkey Trot to Maurice to shame, but one day when near-Adonis-John Drew person was sitting in a sharp light Miss Gilbert saw him that he failed! She saw that the left of his nose was a wee bit larger than right! A blemish on the nose, a blot on the nose spoils both! Exit Mr. Florman, and in the course of time in preparation for the dehonair, the handsome, the ardent Mr. Blodgett. This aspirant was a taut-like person.

Money maker? Well, perhaps. At events Mr. Blodgett works for his life in a bank and bright predictions made as to his future. In many ways seemed cut out to become the perfect band. But, oh, these butts! He is impenetrably. Nothing could persuade him to let his blonde hair curl over left ear.

She was forced to turn her thought hopefully to Mr. Lounsbury, though his grandfather's grandson and a of his father, Mr. Lounsbury, was always with her imagination Miss bert saw in him the perfect man, ph ally. But he, too, has passed on, dozed during a performance of Sumu He confessed to disliking Robert Cl hors and admitted that he loathed ing ice cream with a fork.

"There is no affinity between us," said Miss Gilbert. "We part."

"How much better it would be if every girl would carefully formulate her ideal and then paste it up prominently where the right man could come along and see it. What a lot of trouble and disappointment would be saved!"

STEEL COMMON AND UNION PACIFIC GAIN AT WEEK END.

Copyright 1912 by the New York Post Company.

New York, May 11.—Prices on the stock exchange moved up today, with a generally broader market than on any preceding day this week. The advance was most marked in the speculative favorites of the recent rise; particularly Reading, Steel Common and Union Pacific, which went 1 to 2 points higher. In these stocks, there seemed to be considerable purchases for the "bear" account; but most other stocks made respectable gains for the day.

There was little news. The country's bank clearings again showed handsome gains over 1911. Bradstreet's index number of commodity prices as of May 1, was the highest of any month in twenty years and the rather interesting fact about it was that the rise last month was more marked in metals, textiles and miscellaneous commodities than in coal or in bread stuffs as a group.

DEDICATION AT TRINITY

OF FINE NEW PIPE ORGAN ATTRACTS A LARGE AUDIENCE.

The new pipe organ installed in Trinity Methodist church at a cost of $5,000, was formally dedicated last night. Prof. Edward Young Mason, who is instructor in the teaching of organ music in the Ohio Wesleyan university at Delaware, was in charge. He was assisted by Mrs. Loma Owen Conklin, soprano soloist and Mrs. Pearl Myers-Leas, reader, both of whom are members of the faculty of the university at Delaware.

Under the touch of the master hand of Prof. Mason, three various classes of music were shown, that of the christening, When Prof. Mason played "The Cradle Song" by Shelly, wedding music from Buck and funeral music by Chopin. The great organ responded to almost any sympathetic chord desired and proved its versatile use for church purposes. Prof. Mason was compelled to respond to numerous encores and then the large audience which assembled, was scarcely satisfied.

Mrs. Conklin aided in showing off the instrument and the power thereof, to say nothing of the delight rendered the audience by her beautiful voice. She was heard here earlier in the season at Memorial hall in the Rodeheaver concert.

The numbers by Mrs. Leas, while diverging from the regular program, were very pleasing and added much to the attractive features of the evening. It was an hour that music lovers of this art in Lima will not soon forget. The new organ will be in use at all the church services henceforth.

COURT MARTIAL SHOWS CARL PENNER LENIENCY

FINED FIFTY DOLLARS AND RETURNED TO HIS FORMER POST.

DESERTED TO COME TO DYING FATHER.

APPEAL FOR MERCY BY LIMA PEOPLE ANSWERED BY ARMY OFFICIALS.

That even a court martial of army officers are inclined toward leniency in extreme cases and can temper justice with mercy when the occasion warrants, was clearly demonstrated this morning when word from Columbus, Ohio, reached here bringing hope and cheer to the family of Carl Penner, the young soldier who deserted his post of duty in far-off Washington early this year in order to be at his father's bedside before the untimely death of his parent a few days after his arrival in Lima.

The court martial of officers selected to determine the fate of the youthful soldier announced its decision last night to the effect that a fine of $50.00 had been imposed upon young Penner and his return to the standing army in the state of Washington, ordered.

"In view of the fact that the soldier's father was in the condition described by young Penner at the time he requested the furlough and in view of the fact that the young man has already spent 90 days imprisonment awaiting the decision of court martial, we recommend a fine of $50.00 and his return to the army," read the verdict issued by the court martial last night.

The story of Carl Penner and his seemingly justifiable desertion of the United States army, is one of human interest. Readers of the News will recall the death of his father, Thomas Penner, here in January. More than a year previous, young Penner an ambitious Lima youth, lured by stories of army life and desirous of serving his country, left his home in this city and joined the standing army. He was assigned to service in far-away Washington. Early in January, the happy life of Penner was shadowed by the receipt of a telegram announcing his father at the point of death. An honorable young man that he was, he at once asked for a furlough. Army officers discredited his story and refused to permit his return to his parent's bedside.

Thoughts of his father's condition drove him to desperation. Finally, he concluded to desert the army and return to Lima. Arriving in the city, he made his way across the country, riding freight trains and procuring an occasional "hand-out" until he arrived in this city. His arrival was a timely one. Two days later the elder Penner succumbed to the inevitable, happy in the knowledge of casting his eyes upon his boy before he died.

On the day of the funeral, Carl Penner was arrested by local officials at the orders of the United States government. In the eyes of the law he was a criminal. His arrest occasioned a vehement protest on the part of Lima citizens. A petition was circulated remonstrating against the punishment of the youth. The remonstrance was signed by Lima's leading citizens and forwarded to Columbus and presented to the court martial. Leniency was petitioned in the case of Carl Penner and yesterday's decision of the officers showed that leniency had been exercised.

Young Penner will return to his post with an unblemished record and a clear conscience of having performed his duty at the risk of his reputation.

STILL A MYSTERY.

Relatives Unable to Explain How Thomas Shea Met Death.

The return of James J. Brown, uncle of the unfortunate Thomas Shea, whose decomposed body was found in the Ottawa river last Wednesday, from Indianapolis, whence he accompanied the remains, was attended by no clearing of the veil of mystery surrounding the young man's death.

Shea left his father's home in Indianapolis, five weeks ago, in search of work and was not heard from since. At the time of his disappearance, he was almost penniless having less than $5.00 in his possession.

MADE ADMINISTRATOR.

Michael L. Altstaetter was appointed administrator of the estate of his father, George L. Altstaetter, in probate court yesterday and gave bond in the sum of $5,000. The real estate is valued at $15,300 and the personal property at $2,500.
